Unit Floorplans

The One-Bedroom Unit (A, B, C, D, F, I)

The One-Bedroom Unit reimagines the traditional one-bedroom layout with a studio den that offers additional space, and a loggia that expands the airy living room.

A curvilinear glass partition in the den provides privacy and flexibility when needed and unifies the living room into a home that is perfect for relaxing and entertaining alike.

*Artist's render for illustration purposes only.

Soft curves and generous use of glass partitions bridge the interior and exterior spaces, forming new patterns of circulation and new ways to experience life at home.

The Two-Bedroom Unit (E, H, J)

Designed for families and professionals alike, The Two-Bedroom Unit has expansive windows that extend from the lofty living room to the guest and master bedrooms, opening the home to sweeping panoramic views. The voluminous loggia is nestled between the dining and living areas, bridging the interior and exterior and creating a space that is airy and full of natural light.

Rediscover the loggia as a central component of cosmopolitan al fresco living, providing unique opportunities for entertaining and relaxing by bringing the stunning views and outdoor experience into the fluid living and dining spaces.

*Artist's render for illustration purposes only.

The rapidly changing needs of cosmopolitan living require new approaches to residential design. Taking a dramatically different and innovative strategy to traditional residential design, Haraya Residences reimagines the modern home for a new era.

The generously-appointed master bedroom features a spacious en suite bathroom, a walk-in closet, and large, floor-to-ceiling windows that invite natural light during the day, and frame the beautiful cosmopolitan cityscape at night.
